Sustainable Growth

HIE's new Strategy 2023-2028 launched in August 2023. It sets out a new vision, purpose, strategic objectives, actions and key outcomes we seek to deliver across the region and places the just transition to net zero as a core cross-cutting theme. Our new vision for the region also emphasises the importance of sustainable growth: "The Highlands and Islands is a leading net zero region with a dynamic wellbeing economy, which benefits its growing population and makes a valued contribution to Scotland."

Our purpose is to build and sustain a greener, fairer and more resilient region that benefits everyone with key outcomes of:

- A more balanced population and growing skilled workforce.
- An increase in average wages
- An increase in economic and community benefit from the transition to net zero
- An increase in productivity and innovation

We are delivering through focusing on our four pillars: People, Place, Planet, Prosperity with cross-cutting themes of net zero, fair and inclusive growth, and regional transformational opportunities running through our framework. These represent key strategic drivers in terms of what is delivered and how.

Once-in-a-generation opportunities extend across the region and we are at the forefront of sectors vital to transforming Scotland's economy such as energy, life sciences and space. More traditional sectors such as tourism, food and drink and creative industries have significant potential to innovate, evolve and grow ensuring their long-term contribution to the regional economy. Capitalising on these opportunities will be vital to our ambition to deliver for each and every part of our region.

We will tackle poverty, inequalities and inclusive growth through growing a wellbeing economy and accelerating community wealth building. Community wealth building can drive new business models and create new opportunities for increasing community benefit. Retaining and attracting young people to the region through investing in these opportunities, supporting young entrepreneurs, graduate placements and working with partners to deliver population initiatives is key.

We recognise that businesses and communities continue to be impacted by economic uncertainty, the cost of doing business, legislation and regulation, and access to skilled labour. Transitioning to net zero, fair work and innovation will be key to building resilience and sustainability.

Infrastructure such as housing, transport, education and digital alongside planning and delivering skills and training will be critical areas of partnership working to achieve the ambitions and address the challenges and opportunities set out in our strategy. These can only be accomplished through collaborative working, involving partnership with government and across the private, public and third sectors.

Efficiency, Effectiveness and Economy

HIE is constantly engaged in identifying opportunities to increase efficiency, lower costs, improve service quality and generate additional income. In ensuring HIE's delivery is optimised within the challenging budget and fiscal environment, which require to increase cost increases such as inflation and pay awards.

Aligned to the HIE Strategy 2023-28, HIE has developed a Best Value Plan designed as a framework to measure effectiveness and efficiency and drive improvements. The plan is built around a set of key performance indicators to enable us to measure progress and drive improvements across a number of themes such as customer experience, financial spend, service quality, data use, and project management. To support this activity a group is in place to actively pursue and track efficiency savings.

In line with the Scottish Government Single Scottish Estate policy HIE continue to pursue opportunities to co locate our operational office network with public sector partners to deliver efficiencies. We continue to actively engage in the Highland Property Partnership and also with HUB North. Both forums are seeking to identify opportunities for public agencies to work more closely and to co-ordinate investment and use of buildings where suitable opportunities arise. HIE support the creation of public sector HUBS. We are actively progressing discussions on a potential HUB opportunity in Portree

We continue to pursue a strategy of owning our operational office buildings where suitable opportunities arise. We seek to maximise occupancy of the operational office buildings we own by sharing space with public sector partners. We currently own our operational office buildings in Forres, Inverness, Lochgilphead, Fort William, Portree and Benbecula. Within those we have co locators within our Inverness, Lochgilphead, Portree and Benbecula. offices. We are actively pursuing opportunities to accommodate additional public sector agencies within our largest office building known as An Lochran located at Inverness Campus.

We lease our remaining operational office buildings in Auchtertyre (From UHI), Lerwick (From Shetland Council), Kirkwall (From a private landlord), Thurso (From UHI) and Stornoway (From Comhairle nan Eilean Siar). Apart from Kirkwall, which is owned by a private landlord, we lease space in all of these buildings from public sector partners, primarily local authorities. Within these buildings we have co locators sharing space in our Lerwick, Kirkwall and Stornoway offices.

Within all our operational offices we are seeking to minimise our running costs where possible.

HIE have committed to stringent vacancy and recruitment management and continue to generate recyclable savings where appropriate, encouraging a different approach to resourcing, challenging like for like replacements, looking at different delivery models to drive efficiencies. These savings contribute to the costs of HIE's pay awards and additionally free up capacity to bring in diverse skill sets and capabilities necessary to deliver on HIE's strategic plan. There is an increased focus on resource for front line delivery and the use of internal expertise/specialist.

HIE has a procurement strategy in place which supports efficiencies and Best Value, ensuring that all procurement activities are conducted in a manner that maximises value for money and improves service quality.

HIE's comprehensive approach to improving efficiency, effectiveness, and economy is evident through its commitment to continuous improvement and the implementation of strategic frameworks to support this. These efforts ensure that HIE is regarded as an organisation that is effective and efficient, inspires innovation, and achieves successful outcomes, both internally and externally.
